

Technical Support Engineer

Global Security Devices (GSD) based in Dublin design and manufacture both wired and wireless security products for the Irish and European markets has an opportunity for an 'Internal Technical Support Engineer' to meet the growing demand for all our products.

GSD is committed to strengthening its team and ensuring continued satisfaction by providing the highest level of support to all our customers.

Based in the Dublin office - The main focus points of the position are as follows;

- Candidates should come from a strong customer focused service background
- To provide technical support to all its customers who will be from the security industry
- Have excellent verbal communication skills
- Have a good technical understanding of security products with installation experience an advantage
- Computer skills in Microsoft office a requirement with the ability to document issues and improve efficiency on resolutions

A generous package is on offer for the right candidate which will reflect the responsibilities of the position. With this in mind GSD would like to invite candidates with the appropriate experience who feel they could fill this role.

Please forward your CV either by email or post to:

Michael Moynihan, Global Security Devices, S12 & S13, Synergy Centre, Tallaght, Dublin 24.
michael@globalsecurity.ie

GSD is an equal opportunity employer

www.globalsecurity.ie